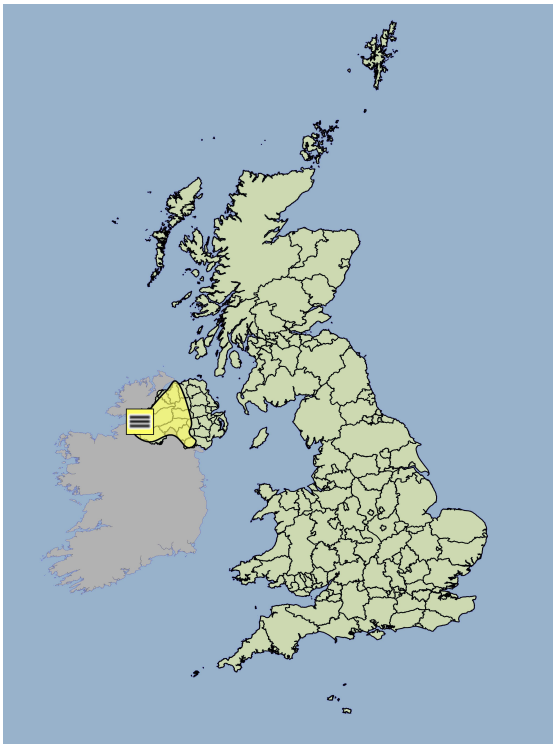
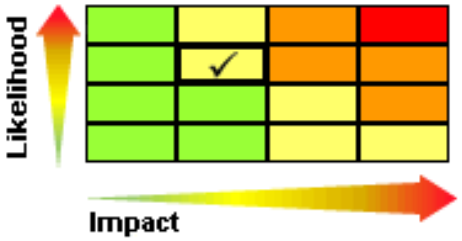
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Fog has persisted in some western parts of Northern Ireland on Wednesday, but is expected to become more widespread and extend eastwards overnight before gradually lifting as winds pick up on Thursday. Some fog may also develop in eastern parts of Northern Ireland, though this is not expected to be as extensive.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Fog

Valid from 18:00 on Wed, 26th Nov 2014 until 10:00 on Thu, 27th Nov 2014

Fog, locally dense, is becoming more widespread on Wednesday evening across western and central parts of Northern Ireland. Visibilities of less than 100 metres in places may result in some tricky driving conditions. Some freezing fog patches may also develop overnight. The fog will slowly clear again on Thursday morning.

The public should be aware of the risk of some disruption to transport overnight and tomorrow morning.
